

SAI ESSAYS (500 CHARACTERS EACH)

Which personal achievements are you most proud of?

The sponsorship team of our Tech-fest had failed to deliver, leaving us in dire need of funds. As head of the maintenance team, I realized the urgency of the situation and gathering my team, motivated them to think of a way out. An idea for a pre-event gala was thus born, by which we were able to effectively publicize the fest, generate funds via games and increase main event participation manifold. My initiative and leadership skills were highly appreciated and my team was hailed as the best team.

Essay Tips

As you have just 500 characters try to dig into your past and come up with one major activity that you undertook in recent years which led to a significant impact. You can try to fit in 2 activities here but it won't leave much space for any background info. Hence we suggest going with just 1 activity.

Here the key to a good personal achievement are the following things:

- A crisis situation or a background story where things aren't going as per plan
- How you came into the story, analysed the situation and found a way out
- How you implemented the plan & the impact that it made (Impact is very important)
- The learnings you got from this experience/ Skills highlighted/ Awards Received

These 4 parts are the key to a great essay.

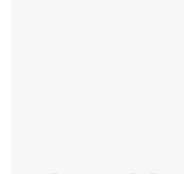

If you analyse the above essay you can see all these parts:

Crisis Situation: The sponsorship team of our Tech-fest had failed to deliver, leaving us in dire need of funds.

Entry into the story: As head of the maintenance team, I realized the urgency of the situation and gathering my team, motivated them to think of a way out.

Plan implementation & Execution: An idea for a pre-event gala was thus born, by which we were able to effectively publicize the fest, generate funds via games and increase main event participation manifold.

Learnings: My initiative and leadership skills were highly appreciated and my team was hailed as the best team.

Other things to keep in mind

While writing the essay, make sure the word limit is respected.

If you are finding it difficult to keep to the word limit, try to find synonyms of longer words, or rephrase sentences.

Make sure all filler material which is generic and not unique to you is ruthlessly eliminated. For example "I am a very hardworking & skilled person", here any xyz person can write this. So rather concentrate on showing how you are unique by backing up the claim with an actual experience.

Once you are done with the essay, we would love to offer you a free essay edit and help proofread the final essay.